Joint WFS Chapter – Classroom Activities!

Students, Teachers, and Professors – Get Published!

The “discussion points” appended to the articles and program synopses published in FUTUREtakes are excellent launch pads for articles, commentary, and joint WFS-classroom research projects. Designed to encourage original, interdisciplinary, futurist thinking in the classroom, these discussion points instill an awareness of the pervasive impacts that often result from social, policy, and technology developments, including unforeseen consequences.

Now circulated to various other professional societies in the greater Washington DC area and to other WFS chapters worldwide, FUTUREtakes (www.futuretakes.org) invites you to join with us to facilitate publication opportunities for forward-thinking students and faculty in your geographic area. Help us grow the next generation of futurists!
